As a faculty member at a Predominantly Undergraduate Institution, the question often comes up among my colleagues: “Why write grants?” They are seldom necessary to achieve promotion and tenure (although